AIAPI - Presentation

The International Association of Art, IAA/AIAP, was born in Venice in 1952. The International Association of Art, IAA/AIAP, is an NGO (a non-governmental organisation) working in official partnership with UNESCO, with the consultative status, comprising artists belonging essentially to the fields of painting, sculpture, printmakers, and artists practising other forms of creative work in the visual arts.

The objectives of the Association are to stimulate international cooperation among the artists of all countries, nations or peoples, and to improve the economic and social position of artists in the national and international levels, as well as to defend their material and moral rights.

The IAA/AIAP structure looks like UNESCO. It allows and facilitates all kind of working condition of arts and professional artists comparison through meetings, seminars, and exhibitions into a peaceful ideal, tolerance and sharing attitude. IAA/AIAP discuss and prepares proposals transferred to members’ states. In 2012, a huge international enquiry on the today condition of the artists was launched which will allow to actualise the ‘World Observatory on the Condition of the Artist’.

On the field, IAA/AIAP actively participates to the UNESCO programs through Arts Education for children facing violence, underprivileged populations or living far from educational centers, in schools and community homes without Arts Education, as well as in specialised medical centers.

IAA/AIAP is campaigning to have Arts Education recognised as one of the Human Rights, and introduced to the National Constitutions.

AIAPI - Associazione Internazionale Arti Plastiche Italia is the Italian National Committee of IAA/AIAP UNESCO Official Partner

Since 2016 AIAPI join forces with Spazio-Tempo Arte and Art&forte, combining three important realities in a synergy that connect together various professionals with great experience and multiply the communication of their events, creating an organization for all artists in Italy and around the world.

In the goal 5, 2030 Agenda UNRIC focuses on the fundamental right of gender equality, and specifies:

“While the world has achieved progress towards gender equality and women’s empowerment under the Millennium Development Goals (including equal access to primary education between girls and boys), women and girls continue to suffer discrimination and violence in every part of the world. Gender equality is not only a fundamental human right, but a necessary foundation for a peaceful, prosperous and sustainable world. Providing women and girls with equal access to education, health care, decent work, and representation in political and economic decision-making processes will fuel sustainable economies and benefit societies and humanity at large.

Goal 5 targets:
5.1 End all forms of discrimination against all women and girls everywhere
5.2 Eliminate all forms of violence against all women and girls in the public and private spheres, including trafficking and sexual and other types of exploitation
5.3 Eliminate all harmful practices, such as child, early and forced marriage and female genital mutilation
5.4 Recognize and value unpaid care and domestic work through the provision of public services, infrastructure and social protection policies and the promotion of shared responsibility within the household and the family as nationally appropriate
5.5 Ensure women’s full and effective participation and equal opportunities for leadership at all levels of decisionmaking in political, economic and public life
5.6 Ensure universal access to sexual and reproductive health and reproductive rights as agreed in accordance with the Programme of Action of the International Conference on Population and Development and the Beijing Platform for Action and the outcome documents of their review conferences
5.A Undertake reforms to give women equal rights to economic resources, as well as access to ownership and control over land and other forms of property, financial services, inheritance and natural resources, in accordance with national laws
5.B Enhance the use of enabling technology, in particular information and communications technology, to promote the empowerment of women
5.C Adopt and strengthen sound policies and enforceable legislation for the promotion of gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls at all levels

And it is enough to look for statistical data to notice, once again, how far gender equality between men and women is still far away.

- Action Aid highlights that, despite being a phenomenon that has seen a significant decrease since the mid-1990s, every year in Africa there are three million women and girls at risk of FGM (female genital mutilation).
- Action Aid: in 30% of cases globally, women suffer violence from their partner within their home. Sub-Saharan Africa and Southeast Asia are the areas of the world most affected by this problem. The consequences can be both physical and psychological. 42% of women victims of violence reported permanent injuries. Murder and suicide are the most serious consequences. Unwanted pregnancies, abortions and sexually transmitted diseases are just some of the other consequences of sexual violence.
- More than 33.000 girls become child brides every day. Globally, 12 million girls get married before the age of 18 every year, about 33.000 every day, or one every two seconds. Today there are about 650 million women who have been child brides.
- Women are 47% more likely to suffer serious injuries in traffic accidents, because the safety features of cars are designed for men.
- Women in rural areas of Africa spend 40 billion hours a year to collect water (source United Nations). In rural areas of sub-Saharan Africa, the lack of services and infrastructure, combined with the expectation of household duties and limited job opportunities for women, means spending part of their lives collecting water and wood for their families.
- 137 women are killed every day in the world by a member of their family. The latest report released by the State Police in Italy with data updated to 2019, speaks of 88 victims every day: one woman every 15 minutes.
- Worldwide, it is estimated that around 35% of women have experienced sexual and non-sexual violence at least once in their lifetime. In 38% of the murders of women, the culprit is the partner.
We could go on indeﬁnitely, also talking about the problem of parental leave punished by companies and governments, the consideration of the ‘responsibility’ of women in sexual violence, hatred (also online) for women who are judged by their appearance before by their professionalism, etc., etc., etc.

Yes, practically indeﬁnitely.

So how much more data do we need to collect to highlight the severity of the problem? Women have the right and duty to see themselves recognized ﬁrst as human beings, then as women. It is fundamental to shift attention from gender to the concept. Why is it still so difﬁcult to understand despite being so simple?

Everyone’s responsibility is everyone’s commitment.

After addressing many important and urgent issues, in 2020 AIAPI asks to the Artists from all over the world to focus their attention on this theme, so urgent and so vital as to be even absurd: in a fair world, one should not even have the problem! Yet the question is always very evident, in any part of the world, where women are too often relegated to roles established in other eras, in other social forms, in other historical contexts.

Femicide: “intentional killing of a woman following the alleged transgression of gender roles deriving from tradition and social norms. Transgressive behavior therefore varies according to the social context in which the crime is perpetrated”

Talking about gender equality means talking about society itself, about its present and future construction, keeping an eye on the past, so to avoid forgetting which and how much discrimination and violence women have always suffered. The future will be increasingly determined by women and girls.

For too long, the woman has been relegated to a secondary position, despite having had to work as, and more than, the man to be recognized as “worthy” of her role.

And, indeed, if men had known how to save the world, wouldn’t they have done so already? So if the man alone cannot save the world, perhaps he can do it with the woman, in a synergistic context of absolute equality.

Both men and women must ﬁght for gender equality, because on this, much more than on many other factors, a healthy and fair society depends, which knows how to recognize everyone and everything they can represent individually, regardless from the sex of belonging.

THE CONCEPT

On 10th December 1948, the Universal Declaration of Human Rights was proclaimed: for the first time in the history of humanity, a document concerning all the people of the world was drawn up.

Everyone of us by virtue of been born, enjoy the rights endorsed by the Declaration. Everyone of us, regardless of the place where we were born and where we live - enjoy these rights. Everyone of us have civil, political, social, economical and cultural rights. Everyone of us is equal to the others.

Is it always so? In HUMAN RIGHTS? artists speak about human rights. The title, simple and direct, without roundabout expressions, expresses the main idea which fits everybody's life.

In this event, uncomfortable, complex and denunciation subjects are dealt with, in order to sting the conscience of all those who, enjoying their own rights, don't think about the people whose rights are violated every day.

The logic of HUMAN RIGHTS? is based on the fundamental concept of Art as a universal expressive form, understandable by everybody regardless language, culture or gender. Languages are according to the Artists' experience and mastery, and create new relationships with the audience, who approaches Art feeling immediately engaged and connected to. Images which are unpleasant such as human rights violation or the ones regarding stories which should not exist; even those which are able to deal with the delicate and difficult subject with wisdom and, why not, irony.

The exhibition will highlight different ways to see this subject, since the event is open to artists from all over the world. It becomes so particularly interesting to discover in which way the perception of the concept of “respect of the rights” is experienced and expressed.

The event aims to call awareness avoiding common places brought by the word abuse: to speak about human rights has become so common that the words “human rights violation” are deprived of all meaning and by now they touch us only at a distance when we hear them, without getting them into our heads.

THE LOCATION

LA FONDAZIONE OPERA CAMPANA DEI CADUTI DI ROVERETO (Trento - Italia)

Rovereto houses on the hill the great bell of the fallen, Maria Dolens, perceived and desired by the priest of the city don Antonio Rossaro, right after the Great War, as eternal symbol of condemnation of the conflict, pacification of the consciences, of brotherhood among men, solidarity between peoples. Made from the bronze of cannons offered by the nations participating in the First World War, played the first toll on 4th October 1925 in the presence of King Vittorio Emanuele III.

During these years the bell has made its voice heard playing every night one hundred tolls of admonishment to life and to peace. Statesman, Presidents and Ambassadors with citizens of each nations have honoured the bell and they continue to hear as a voice of own conscience.

94 Nations have exposing their flag around Maria Dolens, first name of the Bell, along the avenue of the Flags and in the Square of the People, to witness, visibly, the fidelity to a message, to a sort a “Peace’s Pact”.

18th January 1968, by a decree of the President of Italian Republic, Giuseppe Saragat, born as moral entity the Fondazione Opera Campana dei Caduti. Among the Foundation’s finality, particular attention is given to the education of the new generations, to the peace culture, to the non-violence and to human rights.
